THE VOICE OF REASON BY DAVID LAWRENCE

Many force and achieve checkioner to what is often second "the law of the land"?

We have been preaching to the world for several passes that "remarkation of the use of force" is the hart means of prosessing international neace: leaft that true also of internal poace?

Looking back at the events in Astronous, can it be said that we exercised the same inchessance and restraint as we call an other countries to apply when passions man high and local riots break out?

The President, in his "Notes on Lagui Principles." said last week that the "locamilation of plane effecting designment is a "function left to the community viver merimum understanding of local problems emiets." and that, in the 1954 decision, this was "clearly recognised by the United States Supreme Court."

uddn't it have been better for the federal radge at Little Block to have granted the delay formally requested by the school authorities there till tempers

Wouldn't it have been better for the President to have directed the Department of Justice to assist the federal marshal in carrying out the orders of the fedseed court through the deputicing of enough citizens. as assistants to the marshels, to accept any persons interlexing with the count's injunction?

Wouldn't it have been better for the President-in issuing his prodometion on Monday, September 23. which called on the people of Little Back to preserve senter—to have given the people at losst several days in which to listen to the voice of Reason?

Are we admitting that our "civil process" and seconds to the citizancy would have been of so small? Minut we proclaim that we in face America will not set mainta of Salared tecoper

On August 18, 1956, Congress approved the secodification of the "Posts Comitaton Act" originally manual in 1878. This specifically forbide the use of federal troops "to execute the laws" nates "expecuely authorrand by the Constitution or act of Comments."

This was "the law of the lead" only a year ago. Why ien't it respected as "the law of the land" today?

What is to be done now? There must be an abandonment of the quibbling, pettifogging attitudes which canned the colleger lest week of the negotiations for the mithierwel of federal troops from Actionness.

It is not too late to return to the normal processes of law enforcement in America and to rely on the good sense of a community whose feelings have understandabily been aggravated by an unlawful use of federal
